Criminal Convictions/Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974

The Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 allows most convictions to be considered spent after a set period of time. Unless you receive a prison sentence of over 4 years or have any type of indefinite order, your conviction will become spent at some point.

Due to the nature of work for which you are applying, all convictions (both spent and unspent) should be disclosed as per the exemptions specified within the Act.

Empower Support Ltd aims to promote equality of opportunity and is committed to treating all applicants equally and fairly based on their skills, experience and ability to fulfil the duties of the role being applied for.

Empower Support Ltd's pre-employment checks include an enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service check. This will search for convictions and any restrictions barring you from working with vulnerable adults. Answering 'yes' to the question below will not necessarily bar you from appointment. This will depend on the information you provide and the position you are applying for. If you declare information that is deemed irrelevant to the role you have applied for, suitable applicants will not be refused positions on this basis.

If you declare information that is relevant to the role you are applying for, we will take into account:

- the seriousness of the offence(s)
- your age when you committed the offence(s)
- the length of time since the offence(s) occurred
- if there is a pattern of offending behaviour
- the circumstances surrounding the offence(s)
- any evidence you provide to show that your circumstances have changed since the offending behaviour
